The dollar drops again. The United States is buying gold from France, paying the new high price above $32 an ounce. Wise Frenchmen were shipping gold from New York to Paris in neat little kegs, tons of it, when it sold for $20 an ounce. Also, the United States may soon issue $11,000,000 in silver certificates.

That would be better than issuing eleven million dollars more government bonds, on which taxpayers would pay interest.
Some say this country will realize that the government's promise to pay is just as good on a piece of green paper as it is on a piece of yellow paper, the green paper having the advantage of not paying interest and increasing value.

Edmund Schultze, president of the Swiss Republic, says the Swiss kept out of the big war, no fighting broke out, and the government was daring to trespass on Swiss soil. All knew that every Swiss under 30 is trained, armed, ready to fight for his country. Switzerland will now spend what may be necessary to protect her borders, believing that way across Germany will try to go through Switzerland this time as she went through last time, because of recent Belgian and French frontier fortifications.

Through Switzerland the German army might "turn the French flank" and connect with Italian allies. Germany expected to connect with Italian allies last time, but the Italian allies were not ready.
The best defense for Switzerland would be one good squad of powerful bombers and gas-planes and the statement, "shall at once destroy the biggest city of any nation that sets hostile foot on Swiss soil."

Yesterday, old Jerusalem, that once depended on a great wall around the little city, learned that the airplane is here, and war is here.
A great crowd of Arabs, moving to join a demonstration against the coming in of Jews, was dispersed by one low-flying airplane. That roaring jet overhead is disconcerting.

While Germany, with Capt. Eckener and his Zeppelin, shows how easy it is to fly from Germany to South America and from South America to Chicago and back to Germany by dirigible, the British are pushing their heavier than air passenger and mail line into the United States, with a base at Newfoundland.

The route would be Liverpool to northern Scotland, Iceland, Greenland, Labrador, Montreal and then American and Canadian cities.
The flying machine, its watches and rings. "Who's afraid of the bird and the wolf?" That is a better ask for three little pigs than 14, 48 big states.

Under NRA rules, control of industry and business will be under control by organized labor. The unions, according to Mr. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, have about 3,000,000 members now and hope to enroll as many as 20,000,000 men. Such an organization would be the government of the United States. No other groups could stand against it.

Therefore, it is important for union labor to consider above all things the highest wages. In the long run only results count, and union labor as well as the control of industry, namely, the automobile industry and the moving picture industry.

They have also been two industries paying the highest wages. In the long run only results count, and union labor as well as the control of industry, namely, the automobile industry and the moving picture industry.

Men have been a long time on this earth, but they are still amazed by its weather. Washington reports from Seattle in November, first time in

Huge Federal National Losses to Be Bared

Boston political circles will soon be rocked by disclosures in affairs of the closed Federal National Bank that will reveal losses of more than $150,000 to depositors, it was learned by the Boston Evening American today.
These losses, it was admitted by Asst. U. S. Atty.-Gen. Irving G. McCall, in a proceeding in the worthless securities being driven by special agents of the U. S. department of justice and were being delivered to the comptroller of currency at Washington, McCall said.
The report so far contains evidence enough to indict two and possibly three notable persons. According to the agents, the alleged worthless securities were listed as assets of the bank until examiners ran across them and discovered their worthlessness. U. S. Atty. McCall would give no link.

BEACON PAID HEARING SET OUT CAPITAL, S CLAM, SET JUMP
Deficit Existed on the Dividend Dates, Expert Shows
Evidence that Beacon Participations, Inc., directors paid big dividends out of capital when the corporation faced a heavy deficit, was offered today by Atty. Robert T. Bushnell, counsel for Edward Spiegel and other minority stockholders, in a hearing being held before Master James C. Reilly, appointed by Suffolk Superior court to fix damages in the $1,000,000 suit against the Beacon directors.

The evidence was in support of the finding of Judge John J. Byrne, the trial judge, that the corporation because they declared illegally and paid illegally dividends out of the capital of the company, when there were no net earnings or surplus out of which such dividends, with propriety, be paid.

BEACON TRUST PAID
Atty. Bushnell, with the aid of Edward J. Hyland, an expert accountant, showed from books that "Beacon" had paid in dividends to the company had a deficit of $234,567.
In 1929, with a deficit of $248,889, the trial judge found that the corporation because they declared illegally and paid illegally dividends out of the capital of the company, when there were no net earnings or surplus out of which such dividends, with propriety, be paid.

ADAMS SCORES POINT
Atty. Samuel Hays, counsel for Charles F. Adams, got into the records his claim that only one dividend was paid, while Adams served as director of Beacon Participations, Inc. from June 17, 1928 to March 28, 1929; that Adams was not present at the meeting when the dividend was voted and that the dividend was made at a time when the company's capital was in no way impaired.

Adams and George S. Mumford, as directors, were absolved by Judge Byrne of liability in connection with the joint account with the Jordan, Lyman Co. $1400 PROFIT STOLEN
Atty. Bushnell showed the directors of Beacon Participations, Inc., that the Jordan, Lyman Co. made a profit of $1400 on American Gas in 1929.

This was further evidence of stock gambling by directors with stockholders' money. A record was found in the Jordan, Lyman Co. 4000 worth of shares, but no entry appeared in the investment ledger.

Drunk Auto Driving on Railroad 'O.K.'
Lowell, Nov. 3 (AP).—The fact that Harold N. Osgood drove his automobile up a railroad track while drunk saved him from a conviction on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor upon his arraignment in district court today.

Osgood was arrested Oct. 25 while his car was bumping merrily along the ties. He told arresting officers he thought he was on the main street.

Osgood's counsel contended that the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor applied only to an accepted highway. Judge Fisher agreed, fined Osgood $15 for drunkenness and discharged him on the driving complaint.

Band Champion Honored

By JAMES J. SMITH
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent
Rockport, Nov. 3.—The key in the solution of the murder of Mrs. Augustus Johnson, and the slaying 18 months ago of Arthur Oker, local tailor, may be in the possession of Rev. Albert Johnson, pastor of the Swedish Congregational Church, of which both victims were members.

This announcement was made by police late today after the minister had revealed that he himself had been attacked, apparently by a man, two weeks before Oker was killed.

The pastor has a very definite suspicion as to the identity of his own assailant, he said. He is a local man, described by the Swedish playmaker, as an "American." He may be, police believe, the slayer of Mrs. Johnson and Oker.

DETECTIVES AT FUNERAL
The new link in the chain of violence attached to the church pointed to someone with an intense grudge against the congregation.
Oker, beaten to death in his tailor shop, motive unestablished, was a burning matter, was one of the staunchest members of the congregation.

Disclosure of the new angle of the probe followed the virtual elimination of John Laumond, 41, former Rockport store clerk, as a suspect. It came at a time when detectives were attending funeral services for the victim at which Rev. Mr. Johnson officiated.

RAN FROM ATTACKER
The attack on the pastor occurred within a few months of his arrival here from Brooklyn. He formerly lived in Minnesota.
He had attended a Boston church service, he said, and "had come out to Rockport on a late winter day and was walking home from the depot. Suddenly a man leaped out and struck me with a knife. I was mark about my being out late. I was alone and he grabbed me by the coat-tails."

"I managed to wrench free and ran and the man ran after me, shouting, 'unforgivable!'" he said. "I was alarmed and my family was alarmed."

Brookline Man Foley Is 10-8
IS SUICIDE CHOICE TO WIN
Dial Atty. William J. Foley is being backed by the "wise money" to win the mayoralty battle over the field. It was revealed today by the first of the betting began on next Tuesday's results.
The largest wager reported was one of $1000 against $2000 that Foley would defeat the majority field, and smaller bets followed these same odds on the same basis.
One bettor bet made with a well-known Boston bookie was 10 to 1 that Foley would get more votes than Mansfield, another of 2 to 1 that Foley would get more votes than former Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols, one of 3 to 1 that Foley would beat Packman, 5 to 1 that he would beat O'Connell and 20 to 1 that he would beat Sullivan.
There was some Nichols money in evidence today, says Mansfield, but he declined to say how much of O'Connell and no Sullivan.

WIGGIN GOT $18,000,000 PROFIT IN 2 YEARS, SENATE FINDS

CHASE PRESIDENT SOLD STOCK SHORT IN BOOM DAYS

Family Shares in Huge Income While Financier Tries to Stem Market Crash

Washington, Nov. 3 (INS)—Albert H. Wiggin, former head of the Chase National Bank, now revealed one of the richest men in America, shared an income of $18,000,000 with his family in the boom years of 1928 and 1929, it was disclosed today by the records of the Senate banking inquiry.

This income came to Wiggin, his wife and two daughters from his salary as chairman of the governing board of the Chase Bank, their investments and the profits of their personal corporations and trust funds. It included $4,008,333 profit from Wiggin's short-sale operations in stock of the bank.

Wiggin conducted these operations, the records revealed, in the midst of the 1929 market crash while he literally poured millions of dollars of the bank's money into the "Morgan pool" to halt the panic. On one day he and Chase took even as he conferred with the desperate bank leaders of New York City and used his bank's funds to stem the crash of market values.

The income of Wiggin and his family for these two boom years, as disclosed by the records, as follows: Wiggin's personal income from salary and other sources, $3,170,125. Income of Mrs. Wiggin, their two daughters and trust funds, $3,400,000. Income from Wiggin's three personal corporations, $2,530,000. Profit from his short sale operations, $4,008,333. News Comic Held Good for Child

Milwaukee, Nov. 3 (AP)—The comic sections of the daily newspapers constitute an important childhood literature, in the opinion of Dr. W. F. Lorenz, of the University of Wisconsin.

"The influence of the comic as an emotional education for children is good," Dr. Lorenz said before the State Teachers' Association in convention here.

"The comic sections supply material for emotional exercise that is healthy and normal for a child. I see only good and no harm whatever for children in the comic sections of our daily papers," Dr. Lorenz also said the movies were good and healthy influences in the child's emotional life.

Dr. Lorenz presented and Mrs. Lynde (Muriel) Selden and the family trust funds was estimated at $3,400,000 on the strength of their income tax payments. This group paid $348,663.13 Federal income taxes in two boom years in the same two years. Wiggin had $9 income of $3,172,125 and paid but $663,347 in income taxes.

U.S. KEEPS GOLD SPECULATORS IN DARK

Course Guarded Also to Prevent World Money BATTLE

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—The United States today adhered, for two reasons, among others, to strict secrecy about its gold purchases abroad—first, to avoid spurring other nations into a monetary war record, and second, to keep speculators in the dark.

There were, of course, other factors behind the decision not to announce every day the price the United States would pay for bullion. Among these was the implication that officials are not too anxious to tell the rest of the world exactly what they are doing. The purchases, however, are being left to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which is authorized to trade RFC debenture for gold. Since the reserve bank itself has an authority to dispose of these debentures abroad, it is asking reserve member banks to buy the metal, import it and accept the debentures in payment.

Four banks in New York—National City, Chase National, Guaranty Trust and Bankers Trust—are to collaborate in the purchase.

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—A price of $22.37 was established for today's Reconstruction Corporation purchases of newly mined gold, an advance of 21 cents over yesterday.

The quotation was 21 cents higher than the price of bullion at London which stood at $22.28 an ounce, an increase of 13 cents over yesterday.

The margin over today's London price is figured on the basis of the dollar opening at $24.50 to the pound, weaker than yesterday.

LOBBY JEALOUSY SEEN AS BAR TO SWOPE PLAN

Job-Holders of Organization in Opposition to Master Merger

Washington, Nov. 3 (INS)—The Swope plan for self-regulation by industry and commerce with a minimum of government interference will die an early death, NRA officials predicted today.

They base the belief partly because most national, state and regional, and strictly industrial trade associations are packed with job-holders who will fight in the last ditch any plan for a master merger that would deprive them of fat salaries and power.

They also hold that many associations now function chiefly as lobbying organizations and do not want NRA observers to be sitting about so they can't devise schemes to get favorable legislation enacted.

Under the Swope plan NRA or other government observers would be on hand at all "policy" meetings of merged associations. Under the plan many paid directors of minor and major organizations would be eliminated.

Union labor continued its opposition to the plan, its chief objection being that no provision for labor participation has been made.

Meantime business and labor alike wanted clarification of the NRA's attitude toward Henry Ford, several days ago announcing he would submit the case to the attorney-general.

Tariff and recovery officials are marshaling data on the flow of foreign goods into the United States since industrial codes began going into effect.

Ocean Victim Boarded Ship In Delirium

Information That Charles C. Carpenter, 23, of 2 Brimmer st., Beacon Hill, believed to have plunged to his death from a liner en route from Port Said to England, was delirious with fever when placed aboard the boat, was received in Boston today.

As a result, James Carpenter, a brother of the missing man, who had been engaged in opium trading in the South Seas, began an investigation.

James Carpenter and his brother enlisted their mother, Mrs. Charles Lincoln Carpenter, at the Brimmer st. address on Sept. 28, explaining he was starting back for Tahiti and he called again on reaching Port Said.

Since then there has been no direct word from him, the only message being received from a Mrs. Hunter of Nice, France, mother of Bruce Hunter Carpenter with whom the missing man visited prior to leaving for Tahiti.

Mrs. Hunter's cable stated Carpenter was taken ill in Port Said and was placed aboard an English ship when he was delirious with fever.

Cold Spell Due Here From Mid-West

A sharp drop in temperature, expected to occur in Boston tonight, will bring an end to the balmy, sprinkly weather of the past few days, according to the prediction of weather bureau officials.

A cold wave is expected heading here from the Middle West and it was said that freezing weather would be expected. There is a possibility of showers today and as the cold and the mercury is expected to make itself felt.

Yesterday was mild throughout the day with the mercury reaching a maximum of 70 degrees in the afternoon.

TRUCK STRIKE ARBITRATION URGED BY EL

Governor Asks 'All the Workers to Return to Their Jobs

Westfield, Nov. 3 (AP)—Following a conference with the executive committee of the Motor Truck Association of Western Massachusetts, Gov. Ely this noon urged striking employees to return to work and submit their differences as regards wages, hours and working conditions to a board of arbitration.

This board would be composed of one member chosen by the employer, one by the employees and the third by the state commissioner of labor and industry.

The statement was issued by the governor personally following a half-hour conference at his office here.

Meanwhile, in Springfield outbreaks of stone throwing marked the rapidly approaching end of the strike today, as guarded truck caravans rolled over the road to Boston and New York.

Groups of stone throwers, ambushed in roadside woods in Brimfield, Northampton and Agawam, were routed by State troopers before the convoyed trucks could be stopped.

It was apparent, early today, that the backbone of the strike had been broken. The strikers said their defeat chiefly to Governor Ely's assigning State troopers to guard trucks.

It was learned that State fire inspectors are conducting a secret investigation of the fire that destroyed two trucks.

The strikers claim that the truck owners have reduced pay of long-haul drivers to the point where they are forced to accept a wage of not more than $20 a week in many cases.

CHARGES AILED FRANCE RELIES ON U. S. AID

Paris, Nov. 3.—France is relying strongly upon the support of the United States in its present international policy, Albert Sarraut, new prime minister, told the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon when he presented his ministry for approval.

Emphasizing the importance of international collaboration, France is to obtain "peace with security," the Premier said.

The margin over today's London price is figured on the basis of the dollar opening at $24.50 to the pound, weaker than yesterday.

Al Sarraut declared for a strong tariff defense with a preferential quota system, a large public works program and a solution of the economic crisis by general measures. The latter would include his long-dreamed-of closely-bound colonial empire.

Rainey, Byrns Condemn G. O. P. Attack on NRA

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—Democratic House leaders said today that the recent Republican pamphlet, "The National Recovery Act and the NRA will be a boomerang on the minority party because it contains nothing but 'destructive criticism'."

Thus did Speaker Rainey and Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, the Democratic floor leader, reply to the document issued by the Republican National Committee for its workers in the 1934 campaign.

"The attitude of the Republican organization is unfortunate at this time," said Speaker Rainey. "In enacting the recovery legislation we obtained non-partisan support in both House and Senate. Of course, if the Republican organization wants to oppose the

4TH CAMBRIDGE INDICTMENT IS SOUGHT

New Hoffman Clues Point to Brooklyn Haunts

Rue and cry in New York was being raised today on the trail of Charles "Jumper" Hoffman wanted by Boston police for many holdups and by Cambridge police for the murder of Dr. Adolph Sommer, aged inventor.

Another man-hunt in the Boston case was being quietly conducted in Massachusetts. And the quarry sought was a man who the police have had 11 times under arrest, a man listed as "Public Enemy No. 16," a man whom, after conviction of felonies ranging from burglary to liquor running and perjury, was officially "not wanted" only six months ago.

The man is John H. Kilgallon and his residence, when out of jail, is Boston.

Middlesex County authorities are preparing to ask a grand jury Monday to indict him for murder while in the act of armed robbery.

He is alleged to be the fourth of the gang that staged the Sommer "take-up" and shot down Sommer as he sought to defend his coach.

The investigation into the straw heaving of Hoffman, meanwhile has resulted in the suspension of Ball Commr. James P. Goggin until the probe has been completed.

Goggin was the jail commissioner who examined and accepted the bonds offered by James M. Burr, of Bellingham, West End, who went bail for Hoffman.

James Deshaier and Marshall "Mickey" Bowles, also alleged members of the gang, are behind bars and held without bail.

But anyhow, Capt. John J. Carey of Cambridge police headquarters was following what he believed to be not close today in Brooklyn.

WOMAN SEES 2 GIRLS SLAIN AS CAR RACES BY

Drama of "Ride" Victims Is Enacted in Speeding Auto

Camden, N. J., Nov. 3 (AP)—Camden County detectives today said a Gloucester housewife was a witness Wednesday in what they believe was a gang killing of two women, friends of Philadelphia racketeers taken for a ride a few hours before.

The woman, whose name detectives refuse to reveal for fear of reprisal, drove behind an automobile in which she saw two girls being shot by several men. A pistol shot hit the witness' car. The automobile, detectives said, talked with the description of the bloodstained car found yesterday near Downingtown, Pa., 20 miles away.

One of the missing girls is Ethel Marshall of Atlantic City, former entertainer in a Philadelphia night club, and the other is believed to be Florence Miller, formerly a cigarette girl in Atlantic City night clubs.

The girls were friends of Edward Wallace, shot to death near Bellwater, and John Zukowsky, who was seriously wounded.

As the girls started to enter the hospital they were snatched, put into a car and whirled away.

Police believe they were slain because they knew too much about the killing of their friends.

The car found near Downingtown belonged to Miss Marshall. It contained long strands of hair as well as bloodstains.

Lawrence Dougan, chief of county detectives, said the Gloucester housewife saw the struggle in the automobile while driving along. She said several shots were fired from the car after it passed her at high speed.

Camden detectives also revealed that in the abandoned car three bullets were found in a seat of the vehicle. A flimsy piece of silk was attached to one of the bullets.

Zukowsky, who still is in a serious condition from wounds in his face, chest and legs, has named the slayers of Wallace.

CUBANS DEMAND RONCLAD PLEA GRAU RESIGN NETS $50 FINE

HAVANA, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Nationalist leader, Carlos Mendila, said today that he and his followers "are asking" at President Ramon Grau San Martin resign.

At the same time the political leader virtually blasted the hopes of administration supporters for a coalition government.

"It is not a question of cabinet portfolios, no jobs, no representation in the government," said Mendila. "The question is that President Grau lacks the force of public opinion necessary to govern Cuba."

In reply to a question: "When you actually offered the presidency?" he replied in the affirmative, but added, "I refused, because of many considerations."

"To my personal opinion," the political leader said, "none of the opposition sectors will accept a coalition proposal."

Salem Tannery Boy Battles Way to Harvard Reward

A 19-year-old Salem youth, who worked in the wet and slimy cellars of a leather tannery and who all his life has pluggedy hard work in preparation for the future, was today rewarded for all his ambitious labors as one of 28 Harvard students in the local possession of scholarships totaling $10,700.

Joseph Shure of 21 Holly st., son of a Salem seawaterman, was notified today by Harvard University officials that the scholarship offered by the Harvard Club of the North Shore had been granted him.

These scholarships are offered students by competitive examinations made possible by the local Harvard clubs in the respective cities and states.

The North Harvard Club of Concord gave its scholarship to Daniel F. Royce of Concord, Charles J. Koenig of 37 Belmont st., Milton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Koenig, received the award of the Harvard graduates living in his town.

The college was graduated from Salem high school in 1931, valedictorian of his class. He then took a post-graduate course at the Salem high school at the same time working in the leather tannery as a means of obtaining funds for his studies.

During his secondary course, he edited newspapers on the Boston and Salem trains for the Armstrong company.

SWIMMER ROBBED ARE TOWED BY WANNMAN

Villa Owner Dines as a Guest, but Avoids Old Wallet Trick

Harry E. Lombard, of Lynn Shore Drive, failed to tell his new neighbor Italian villa, but he is congratulating himself today that he also failed to fall for the impostor's wallet game, and that he managed to enjoy two good dinners at the expense of the confidence man.

Lombard revealed that the attempted swindle was carried out by three men, one posing as a wealthy Connecticut auto accessories dealer, another as his agent, and the third as a millionaire horseman.

He said the supposed accessories dealer evaded an interest in the Italian villa, bordering the Swampscott shore front, which he owns.

The second man, posing as agent for the first, communicated with Lombard and finally arranged for them to meet at a hotel. Lombard kept the appointment and was invited to dinner.

After the meal and enjoyed an excellent meal with the alleged agent from the hills, the supposed auto accessories dealer failed to appear and another date was fixed.

This was dinner.

On the second occasion the Connecticut man put in an appearance and the three enjoyed another excellent meal with Lombard dining "en route."

PLAN FAILED

In the course of the meal, they appeared under the table a wallet with a large sum in cash and jewels therein. A card identified it as the property of a man with whom the Connecticut man claimed acquaintance. He said he was a wealthy horse owner and was staying at a nearby hotel where the alleged horseowner was employed to recover his wallet.

Grateful in fact, that he let them in on a sure fire scam, it was then suggested that the Connecticut man should bet on the race. It was here that the Lynn man decided that he had best withdraw without trying to sell his horse.

MUSICIAN BOND HELD IN DEATH OF WOMAN

Grand Jury to Act on Charges Against Everett Man

Anthony J. Bond, 33, Everett musician, today entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of manslaughter growing out of the party death of 26-year-old Mrs. Sylvia Marsh of Malden, mother of six children.

Through his counsel, William McDonald, the night club orchestra player waived examination. He was held in $10,000 for the December grand jury.

Mrs. Marsh, who was estranged from her husband, died as the result of a sleeping party, acute alcoholism and a beating with a beer bottle after a party in the La Salle Hotel on the night of Saturday, Oct. 21, according to Medical Examiner Timothy Leary.

Shortly before her death, the young mother told her parents she had obtained a divorce from her husband, Charles P. Marsh, of Salem at Malden, and that she had married Bond.

The musician, who surrendered to police of Warren Ave. station three days after the woman's death, told he had been keeping company with her for five years—ever since she became estranged from her husband.

He said he took a dose of sleeping tablets in the hotel room on the night of her death and awoke to find the bloody corpse at his side. Thoroughly shaken, he went to another hotel to consult a doctor until a newspaper account of Mrs. Marsh's death caused him to give himself up.

Hope Davis Breaks Off with Vicome for Youth

New York, Nov. 3 (U.S.)—Richard Harding Davis, late war correspondent and novelist, would have seemed in stretch circumstances as in this little piece—but then, it may be it was not purely coincidence.

The writer's daughter, Hope Davis, broke off her engagement to 15, left the little town of St. Jean de Luz, France, and arrived in the little town of Port Chester, N. Y., to visit friends, last Monday.

WEDDED IN SECRET

One Jean Louis Frank Kehrig, 28, of St. Jean de Luz, left the same small town, left it a week or so before, and arrived in the same little town of Port Chester, N. Y.

There it was learned the two were married last Monday at the Rev. Frederick F. Voorhes, of the sumptuous Methodist Episcopal Church, in Port Chester. The two said they would live at 264 Lexington Ave.

Miss Davis, who formerly lived in Mount Kisco, had made her home in France for several years, will inherit at least $100,000 from the estate of her father, when she is 21.

COULDN'T FORGET

Scarcely did Miss Davis announce breaking of her engagement to the Vicome Jacques De Riviere, son of the Comte and Countess De Riviere of St. Jean de Luz, "by special command."

Announcement of the marriage was made in a small French or even a large one, at 264 Lexington Ave., where the sister's companion of 13 years' service, Miss Louise Frey, and another woman, appeared shocked.

Killer Again Lurks on Cape Ann

"Land of Violence" Is Dyed in Many Bloods of Mystery Crimes

By A STAFF CORRESPONDENT
Rockport, Nov. 3.—Once again a killer roams the wooded hills of old Sandy Bay; and all the legends of the centuries past come trooping up like specters to ride the northeast winds and the restless sea, beating awestruckly at the tip of Cape Ann's syenite headland.

Picturesque and peaceful in the summer sun is Rockport, with its art colony sketching old wharves, and its merry vacationists, but in the gray cold autumn, with a second uninvolved murder, it has gone back beyond the years to the days of plunder and murder.

There has always been violence here since the year 1800, when Richard Tarr let a doughty band of colonists out on the island that is really Cape Ann and settled the village of Sandy Bay, which is now Rockport, a made appropriate name.

There is violence of storm as you will find it at no other point along the New England coast: when the northeast gales of fall and winter hurt their fury on the Cape—when the summer visitors have gone. There was and is again, violence of another kind.

Dogtown and Doctor's Run and the Headlights all have their legends and some of them are true. Back in the boisterous hills beyond the narrow streets lies Dogtown Common. There are no dogs there and there is no common; it is merely a rocky plateau, brush-grown and desolate. Here and there, if you look closely, you will find grass-grown, rock-strewn depressions that are the remains of wells and homes.

Dogtown was a town in the 18th century. One hundred families lived there in voluntary exile, in loneliness and poverty, seeking safety from roving bands of sea raiders and the already dwindling Indian bands that set upon them.

DEATH SUCCESSES GRILLED

that Mr. Oker met his death. Then I was more alarmed than ever and in the back of my mind I associated the attack made on me with this crime.

"Some weeks afterward I saw in daylight a man I was inclined to believe was the man who attacked me, though I am not positive. He is a local man and an American, not a member of the church."

I am loath to believe that any member of the congregation is responsible. I do not believe it. But I am convinced, too, more I think about it, that someone familiar with movements of members of the congregation is the one we seek. I am convinced that the murderer knew of the Halloween party being held at my home and that Mrs. Johnson was there."

Held on a technical charge of vagrancy, Loomis was grilled at Plymouth, where he asked a night's lodging at the police station, and rushed here over the road from the Norwell state police barracks early today after his evasive answers and powerful physique, his former residence here and the fact that he was suffering from a queer mental aberration approaching a persecution complex had placed him in the category of logical suspects.

Dial, Atty. Clegg and State Detectives Griffin and Murray, who questioned him, were not sanguine of the outcome, however, and Griffin expressed doubt that the solution of the crime would come through Loomis.

The establishment of motive becomes more and more important to progress in the case and the police are looking to Dr. George Burgess Magrath, Boston pathologist, for the answer.

To determine whether a criminal attack had been made or attempted by the slaver, Medical Examiner Ira C. Hull dispatched the victim's organs to Harvard Medical School, but on orders of Dial, Atty. Clegg, they were intercepted en route, returned here, and this morning were sent by a trooper to Dr. Magrath's Boston office.

CHECK MURDER PARTY
It was admitted by investigators that suspicion is directed at every member of the congregation of the Swedish Congregational Church, of which Mrs. Johnson was a member. Dial-Atty. Clegg intimated that in his domestic address to them early yesterday. Practically all of them attended the Halloween party.

State troopers assigned to help the detectives are checking the movements on the murder night of every male member of the Swedish Congregational Church who attended the Halloween party at the home of the pastor, Rev. Albert Johnson.

It was from this affair that Mrs. Johnson was driven to her home at Alburgh, N. Y., a neighbor and administrator of her late husband's will. Two other neighbors were in the Oker car when Mrs. Johnson alighted in front of her home.

Closer examination of the broken rear window today convinced detectives that the killer must have been

Selectman Seeks Death Reward

Rockport, Nov. 3.—Chairman Ralph T. Parker, of the Rockport board of selectmen, announced today that he had among the hopefuls seeking the $1000 reward offered by the board for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the Johnson killer.

His brother, selectman H. Lane, who is a school teacher in Gloucester, joined the searchers near the home of the murdered widow, and spent considerable time in a minute examination of leaves for bloodstains.

port to kill and plunder and carry off the women.

Dogtown was something like a natural fortress of great rocks, a refuge for women and children while their men were away at sea fishing. The women kept huge dogs as a manly breed and as a savage as any wild creature, except with their own. Their howling made the night eerie.

More than 150 years have gone since anyone lived in Dogtown, but on nights when the winds blow right the residents of Rockport and now it has come back. Lights burn all night in the old homes. You can hear dogs barking a sound far off.

From The Headlights above the evening scene, the darkness of the girl once leaped to death in the right to escape a raid, who had hung on the outskirts of the village, molesting women.

TRAGEDY ON THE RUN

And once, not so long ago, a doctor vanished. Summoned in the night from his bed, he set out on his horse along a trail over the cliffs to the home of a woman in labor. Somewhere along The Doctor's Run he vanished. Doctor and horse were never seen again. Death claimed mother and child.

By the hundreds of thousands, now, the wild pigeons swirl over the cave now known as Pigeon Cove and the hill now Pigeon Hill.

Women Often Victims of Fiendish Fates

on That Coast

They were there one night that a woman was found murdered. They were gone the next day—every single solitary dove. They never returned. Only the gulls cry and wheel over Rockport now.

Each granite quarry scar in the headland has its story of violence, some doubtlessly true. Many are now abandoned, water-filled, and their depths, no legend says, hold the secret of the disappearance of many a man and woman.

Fear once rode hard at the heels of Rockport and now it has come back. Lights burn all night in the old homes. You can hear dogs barking a sound far off.

CAUSTIC CRITIC FLEET TO SHIFT BACKS BURKE TO ATLANTIC

Madison political circles were stirred today when Joseph L. Fitzpatrick, chief critic of Mayor John H. Burke in the recent primary, endorsed the mayor in the latter's contest against John J. Irwin.

The first surprise was followed by a second in which the Ward 3 campaign committee of Fitzpatrick voted unanimously to endorse Irwin. Mayor Burke and Irwin both live in that ward.

Fitzpatrick was city purchasing agent under Burke but resigned in an argument over contracts. His primary campaign was considered in the light of retaliation against Burke but today's endorsement seemed to heal the wound.

Washington, Nov. 3 (INS)—The United States fleet, which comprises nearly all America's sea fighting ships, will spend next summer in the Atlantic. It was announced today by Secretary of the Navy Swanson, following conference with President Roosevelt.

The fleet probably will leave the Pacific in the spring, and return in the fall.

President Roosevelt is planning to sail through the Panama Canal and so Hawaii next summer.

Japan has long resented concentration of the fleet in Pacific waters, interpreting its presence there as a subtle challenge. From time to time Japanese spokesmen have referred publicly to the continued concentration in the Pacific as "unfortunate" in its effect upon Japanese-American relations.

A Smile in Court

Lloyd R. Fossenden smilingly faced his arraignment in Federal court today on charges of misappropriating $400,000 in funds of the closed Inman Trust Co. of Cambridge. The erstwhile fugitive treasurer was held in $15,000. (Boston American photo.)

FAHEY TO HEAD U. S. HOME LOAN

John H. Fahey of Bay State rd., Back Bay, publisher of the Worcester Post and Free Press, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was elected today to head the U. S. Home Loan Board.

The appointment of Mr. Fahey followed the President's acceptance of the resignation of William F. Stevenson of South Carolina as chairman.

Stevenson will give up the chairmanship on Nov. 15, but will continue to serve as a member of the board. The vice-chairmanship will be filled by T. D. Wirth of Tennessee, now a member of the board.

Positive, Negative Elections Are Equal

PUT FENDERSON BAIL AT $15,000

Lloyd R. Fossenden, treasurer of the closed Inman Trust Co. of Cambridge, pleaded not guilty today in Federal court to four indictments charging misappropriation of $400,000.

The arraignment marked the end of a successful fight by Federal authorities to return Fossenden to Boston jurisdiction, after he had been held previously in Federal court at Portland.

Fossenden waived reading of the complaint and his counsel, Judge Frank Cheney of New York, asked that bail of $15,000 be set.

Special Asst. Atty-Gen. Irving G. McLean objected, however, declaring he believed bail should be $25,000.

However, Judge McLean eventually set the bail at the defendant's figure, and then he was taken to the United States marshal's office and photographed and fingerprinted, as had been the other defendants in the Federal National Bank and affiliate cases.

FR. M'DONOUGH DIES AT 71

New Bedford Nov. 3 (AP)—Rev. Michael Vincent McDonough, for 45 years a Roman Catholic priest, with charges in Rhode Island and Massachusetts and for the past 12 years chaplain of St. Mary's Home, New Bedford, died last night at the home in his 71st year.

A native of Phil River, he graduated from the Fall River High School at 15, the youngest student ever graduated at that school. After studying at Holy Cross College in Portland, he was ordained to the priesthood in 1888, and then he was assigned to St. Peter's and Paul's Cathedral, Providence, R. I.

He was assigned in 1897 to St. Killian's in New Bedford, where he remained until 1921.

He was a brother of the late Rev. J. M. McDonough and of the late Judge John J. McDonough of the Second District Court, Fall River.

Lindbergh Confers With Dutch Airlines

The Hague Nov. 3 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh spent the morning at his hotel in a long conversation today with Frank B. Kellogg, former American secretary of state.

Later, the aviator who came here last night after a flight from Paris to Amsterdam with his wife, went to the office of the head of the Royal Dutch Airlines for a conference on Dutch air navigation.

60 years, and pussywillows budding.

Last Tuesday was the hottest October 31 that New York city has ever seen. Sun spots have something to do with it, and what happens behind the sun spots also, so that wise men tell you. But just what happens, they don't say.

The government is expected to tax whiskey made abroad five dollars a gallon more than the same product made at home, and that, it is thought, should encourage the home products.

Why allow foreign whiskey to come in on any terms? Why not let Americans that drink whiskey drink the kinds made of grain raised by American farmers, distilled by Americans, employing American labor, whiskey is whiskey, and for those that think they must have "Scotch," a smoky taste could easily be provided. Beer and whiskey used here should pay revenue in this country only, wages in working men in this country only, and be made of grain from American farms only.

Stock Exchange seals dropped from about a half a million dollars each to one-fourth of that price when the bottom dropped out in 1929. Then when hope again began to "spring eternal," they suddenly bounded up to $250,000. Now they drop back to $50,000. Human nature, including fondness for speculation, does not change in one generation or in ten. A seal on the Stock Exchange, with its small membership, will be worth in future twice the highest price on record, with fairly intelligent stock, with Exchange management.

A New York fashion show displays a bride's costume, all black, black velvet dress, black tulle veil, "held in place by a gold lacquered wig."

The bridegroom standing and promising beside that costume would have misgivings.

A & P FOOD STORES OF NEW ENGLAND

The Great ATLANTIC and PACIFIC Tea Company

Last Day Saturday!

ROOSEVELT DAY at Houghton's

Saturday is the last day of a sale that has been phenomenal. It began last Saturday when Houghton's came out with an 8-page circular (sensational, because in many instances the items offered will not be duplicated again at prices given).

Thousands of thrifty New Englanders shopped wisely and well and bought the many items they needed, not only to benefit by the savings but also to help the President in furthering the N. R. A. program of buying everything they can sensibly use in the near future. Saturday is the last day of this great sale. We don't have to urge you. Just glance at the low prices and remember they'll be back to our regular prices on Monday.

IN ADDITION TO THESE LOW PRICES HOUGHTON'S GIVES YOU LEGAL STAMPS!

HOUGHTON'S-FOR VALUES

The Keyhole on the News

Just Napping

If ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald didn't already know how many friends he had, he found out when that taxicab knocked him sprawling on the street.

While he still lay prostrate, getting his breath, there began a flood of solicitous inquiries.

"Are you hurt, Mr. Fitzgerald?"

That was the cab driver.

"Am, say, Mr. Fitzgerald, is anything busted?" That was a spectator.

"Hurt much, Mr. Mayor?" That was a grizzled old sidewalk peddler.

"Honey" Fitz grim veteran that he is, tried his best to smile appreciation of universal interest in his mishap.

He lost patience at last, though, when a boy of well dressed vocation added shrill voice to the "Are you hurt?" chorus.

"No, ladies," he snapped as he was helped to his feet. "I am not hurt at all. I was washing along, got drowsy, so lay down in a gutter to take a nap. Now, if somebody has been kind enough to call an ambulance, I'll go to a hospital and catch my sleep up where it's peaceful—and quiet."

"No, Nyzoom"

"The Nyzoom of Hyderabad— he's the richest man in the world and can put his hands on an actual $2,000,000,000 in gold and jewels—offered me a job as his private secretary, but I turned him down. I didn't like his country's climate."

Young Nathan G. Snyder, of Dorchester, talking. And you can take it or leave it. But don't leave it too quick. Nate might not be kidding.

He wasn't kidding half a dozen years ago when, at the age of 15, he hired Symphony Hall and brought Piusfoot Johnson, Clarence Darrow and Judge Ben Lindsey here, on successive occasions, to debate prohibition, the rights of man and the ethics of companionate marriage.

He isn't kidding when he tells his seemingly tall tales of having acted as manager for American tours of such notables as Band Leader John Philip Sousa and Roland Hayes, great Negro tenor. Nate Snyder, plump, smiling, voluble, school-boyish, has an immeasurable facility for getting celebrities under his wing. Or of getting himself under their wing, as the case may be.

No Kipling

Yet Nate's imagination on occasion, has been known to run away with him. As, for instance, when he arranged a tour—and raised capital—to bring Rudyard Kipling to America as a lecturer. That was a crackjack idea. But Nate registered no concern's okay of it. And it ended in trouble for Nate in Boston court.

But all that, of course, is ancient history. Newest of all Nate Snyder stories is this one about the Nyzoom.

Nate met the Nyzoom at Le Touquet, the fashionable French bathing beach. Nate was there, all right. He has clippings to prove it. Clippings telling how he left New York with road money "some money" in his pocket, commissioned to direct for five months to a play, supposedly written by Countess Margot Bathory of Hungary. Clippings telling how Nate would—and did—visit Queen Marie of Roumania, ex-King Alfonso of Spain, deposed Commissar of the Soviet Leon Trotsky. Nate was all set to arrange American speaking tours for the king, the queen, the commissar. It was practically arranged. Only they wouldn't come. That saddened Nate. But not for long. Then was when he met the Nyzoom of Hyderabad.

Nate admits the Nyzoom charmed him up. Nate's growing passion was dissipated by first-hand acquaintance, in the flesh, with a gentleman who had benevolence, goodness, billions—and had them in concrete, tangible, crisp, linky, scientific form.

No East Wind

Nate liked the Nyzoom of Hyderabad. They had a lot of fun together at Le Touquet. The Nyzoom was honestly disappointed when Nate couldn't see his way clear to go permanently to Hyderabad as director of public relations. (The Hyderabadians have another word for the title, but it means the same.) Nate had to say no, though Hyderabad, just a dot, he learned, on the map of India, has an average all-year-round temperature of 104 and 105 in the shade. For a boy brought up to know and appreciate Boston's good east wind, 105—or even 104—is too hot, Nate says he felt.

So Nate came home. And the Nyzoom of Hyderabad, with $2,000,000,000 in his coffers and deep disappointment in his heart, is carrying on as best he can alone. But there'll probably be a sequel. Nate Snyder, at 24, isn't living in the past. Visiting Boston a week ago, he was studying a map of Honolulu and the Hawaiian Islands.

"Hawaii," said Nate, "has a climate suited to the taste of a Boston gentleman. How far is it?"

And a postcard, signed by Nate and delivered here last night, was postmarked Omaha, Nebraska. Next card may come from Honolulu. Or even from Hyderabad, what with winter and all.

FULLER ALL SET TO ATTACK INNES-NICHOLS COMBINE

Ex-Governor Star at Parkman's Symphony Hall Rally Tonight—Foley Centers Drive on O'Connell

(Other Political News on Page 13)

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY

Having carefully bided his time, former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller tonight will tear into the Innes-Nichols-Bottomly-Goulston combination.

The former governor, whose characterization of Innes, Goulston and Bottomly as the "morning, afternoon and evening mayors" of the Nichols administration, has become a classic, will share the spotlight with Senator Henry Parkman, whose majority candidacy he advocates, at a big victory rally in Symphony Hall.

Fuller's platform appearance and a terrific attack upon former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell and "other slanders of decent women," by Dist. Atty. William J. Foley, were the high spots tonight in the torrid contest for mayor which the voters will decide next Tuesday.

O'Connell's Shame Cries Foley at Rally

The district attorney, aroused to a high pitch of indignation over the "shame" cast upon Dr. Mary Moore of Brighton, by O'Connell, forcefully called upon the electorate to overwhelmingly rebuke the candidacy of the former congressman.

O'Connell had intimated that Foley by attending a reception at Dr. Moore's home in Brighton, had put his office under obligation to her in the event that her husband, charged with being a fugitive from justice, was caught.

"Now as district attorney I will accept and welcome any sound criticism but I resent the slanders attacks upon the courts and the good people of Boston," the chief prosecutor of Suffolk County asserted. "There is not now and never has been conditions as described by these assistant Republicans, the Hivings, Mansfield and O'Connell."

"O'Connell with his one-man army has been defaming the courts and the district attorney's office. But no man who ever ran

Ward 17 Women Back Foley

The women's auxiliary of the Ward 17 Democratic Club of Dorchester, at a meeting in Lithgow Hall, Codman sq., presided over by Margaret Meyers, endorsed the candidacy of William J. Foley, 28 to 35. The endorsement was then made unanimous at the suggestion of Mrs. Dennis J. Malone.

The club itself was recently split wide open when, after a number of members had been refused the right to vote on the technicality of not having paid their dues, an endorsement was put through for Frederick W. Mansfield. The seceding members formed a new organization called the Ward 17 Democratic League.

For office in Boston was so low, so lacking in decency, as was this villainous slanderer when without cause he assailed a good woman for her refusal to support him and her support of me.

"To attempt to banish the good name of any woman is a foul and loathsome thing. But the attack on this woman was infinitely worse because she was an intimate friend of his and of his family. He addressed a meeting there. His children played with her children. He ate at her table."

"This frenzied man, galled and embittered, because people scorn his methods, attacked this defenseless woman on a spurious charge. He assailed her because of alleged offenses of her brother."

Terms Attacker Defamer of Women

"No more distasteful attack was ever made on a woman. The tears and mortification of this woman, caused so unjustly, must bring swift punishment to this defamer of women and children. The decency and civility of the people of Boston has been outraged, and they will deal with him decisively."

In a striking refutation of the taunts hurled by O'Connell, and also Frederick W. Mansfield, on Foley's record as district attorney, Foley pointed to editorial after editorial in Boston newspapers commending him highly for his success in sending to prison the first kidnapers to make their appearance in Suffolk County.

Significantly, he stressed that neither O'Connell nor Mansfield had ever had any criticism of his office during the seven years of his incumbency, until they both became candidates for mayor.

"Do you believe for one moment that if the odor of scandal or corruption were in my office for the past seven years, that it would have escaped the attention of the newspapers of Boston?" he asked. "Do you believe that I could placate an aroused press and citizenry if I were guilty of the vicious and lying charges of O'Connell and that I was in collusion with the underworld?"

Having taken the plunge, in order to try and "rejuvenate" the innards made upon their campaign by the treacherous non-partisan appeals of Senator Henry Parkman, the Innes-Nichols-Bottomly machine, Foley declared, now faces an aroused, intelligent and victorious Democratic majority.

"The Democrats of Boston are clearly through this mess of intrigue," Foley said. "They now understand the purpose of the vicious and slanderous attacks of Mansfield and O'Connell, these Hivings of 1933, these professional soldiers and hirelings of the 'Go-Go's' and the Republican gang and they will not be betrayed or deceived."

U. S. VIRTUALLY APOLOGIZES TO NAZI ENVOY

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—A virtual apology had been extended to Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador, by Secretary of State Hull today in connection with the progress of Jewish leaders that the Jewish envoy was participating in the spread of Nazi propaganda in this country.

The state department announced that Hull, in a meeting with Ambassador Luther, had "expressed his concern that an ambassador accredited to the government of the United States should be subjected to a public attack of this nature."

Y. M. C. A. DRIVE AT HULTMAN

During the next five weeks a committee of ten members will investigate the possibilities of a motion to have an executive committee of the Young Men's Christian Union elected yearly, a move which would strip Police Comm. Eugene C. Hultman and 11 others of their controlling powers.

A final vote on the motion will be taken after the committee makes its report. The motion was presented by a score of men last night at a special meeting, which they had asked be held.

The meeting, attended by more than 200, was a stormy session.

Gangs' Bomb Blamed for Plane Blast

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The theory that a bomb left aboard a New York to Chicago transport plane exploded and caused it to crash with the death of its pilot, a man named Charles J. Smith, was advanced today by the Tribune, when it said it had learned Federal men were asking a gangster, whose name was not given.

He will be charged with murder, if caught, for having left the explosive aboard, while a passenger on a previous trip, the Tribune said.

Witnesses at the coroner's inquest the day after the crash agreed that an explosion preceded the fall of the plane.

Planes enroute the wreckage distributed over a wide area and made the task of determining the cause of the crash difficult. Laboratory tests at Northwestern University indicate it was not due to an explosion of the gasoline tanks.

The Tribune today said that Department of Justice agents were working on the theory that the gangster traveling with the bomb may have feared he would be searched at the end of the journey and hid it under a pile of blankets in a compartment.

The bomb, it was pointed out, might have ridden around being poked sufficiently to set it off.

Youth Asks Court to Change Name

The petition states that he is planning to enter the teaching profession and he wishes to prevent inconvenience.

LA GUARDIA HAS POLL LEAD

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—Final tabulation of 565,024 votes cast in the Literary Digest's New York City mayoralty poll show that Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Fusion candidate, is still leading in all boroughs.

He received 261,817 ballots as against 207,108 for Joseph V. McKee, Recovery Party nominee.

Mayor O'Brien's vote was 40,129. Charles Solomon, Socialist, received 13,391, and 2814 votes were scattered.

LaGuardia's percentage of the vote was 47.85, McKee's, 38.01 and O'Brien's, 11.02.

JOHN SHERLEY, CIVIC LEADER, IS DEAD AT 59

Springfield, Nov. 3 (AP)—John A. Sherley, organizer of many civic improvement groups in this part of New England in the past 20 years, died here last night at the age of 59.

His community service work began when he was a village pastor in Hartford, Vt. His success at treating the attention of prominent philanthropists and he was called to Bennington, Vt., and then to Springfield.

He was instrumental in forming the Hampden County Improvement League, the Eastern States Exposition, the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange, the Junior Achievement

Somerville League Quizzes Candidates

Specific answers to a series of questions on municipal matters put by the Somerville "Travellers" League were given by candidates for mayor and alderman-at-large before 400 persons at Somerville high school auditorium.

Rep. James E. Hagan declared that the Roosevelt principle that pay runs do not put money in circulation should be followed and full pay should be restored to city employees. He also favored consolidation of city departments.

Alderman Louis E. Knox, who is opposing Hagan in the mayoralty race, declared he was in favor of the "pay as you go" policy.

Have mercy on your stomach

Cook with CRISCO—it digests quickly

Anne, why'd you buy Crisco? I have plenty of my shortening on hand.

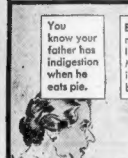

MOTHER SCOLDS ANNE

Oh, Mother, I want to make rhubarb pie for Dad tonight—he loves it!

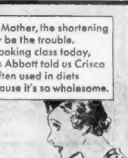

You know your father has indigestion when he eats pie.

ANNE'S TAKING DOMESTIC SCIENCE

But, Mother, the shortening may be the trouble. In cooking class today, Miss Abbott told us Crisco is often used in diets because it's so wholesome.

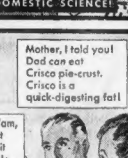

Take this, John—you'll need it to stuff your stomach after eating so much pie.

DAD SAYS ANNE'S RIGHT!

Mother, I told you! Dad can't eat Crisco pie—Crisco is a quick-digesting fat!

No, no, no, I haven't had a bit of trouble.

At the American Cooking School, Mrs. Frances Northcross used and recommended CRISCO, the modern, quick-digesting shortening.

CRISCO

digests quickly

You don't need to take the joy out of eating in order to protect your digestion. You can gladly say "yes" to wholesome Crisco pies and crisp Crisco-fried foods! Yes, they can be good for you—because Crisco is the digestible vegetable shortening that doesn't over-burden your stomach.

Most every day something is fried in your house. Is it grease-cooked and hard to digest—or is it brown and crispy the way Crisco-fried foods are? Crisco can be heated higher—so it seals food quickly in toasty brown—which prevents fat from soaking into the food. That's why Crisco-fried foods digest quickly!

But let your common sense tell you. Look at Crisco—see how it piles up like thick country cream on a spoon! Taste its sweetness. Why, there's nothing like Crisco, because Crisco is made from digestible vegetable oils by its own secret process!

When you buy Crisco, look for the familiar blue-and-white label. Crisco's vacuum-sealed can is a health-protection to you.

YANKEE HASH

- 1 tablespoon Crisco
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped beef (cooked)
- 1 cup rolled boiled potatoes

Melt Crisco in frying pan. Add onion. Brown onion. Add beef. Stir in potatoes. Cook 10 minutes. Then spread out evenly. Cook slowly, as before brown, keep stirring and eating it up, as the mother has now worked through hash before removing from skillet, fold hash over like an omelet. Serve with milk.

Fruit Apple Pie: Roll out 2 or 3 large perfect round apples. Cut into 12 thin slices. Cook 10 minutes. Then spread out evenly. Cook slowly, as before brown, keep stirring and eating it up, as the mother has now worked through hash before removing from skillet, fold hash over like an omelet. Serve with milk.

Crisco is the registered trademark of a shortening manufactured by the Procter & Gamble Co.

To Endure Fifty-Nine Years

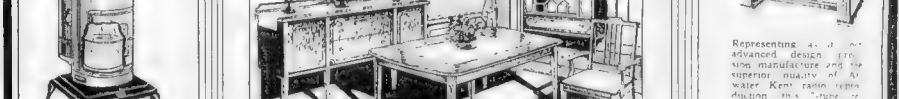

—As Osgood's hat, is the proud record of but few business enterprises, and proves beyond a shadow of doubt that a policy of holding steadfast to quality, beauty and good taste—interpreting them and making them accessible to old friends and new customers—is the only policy that pays.

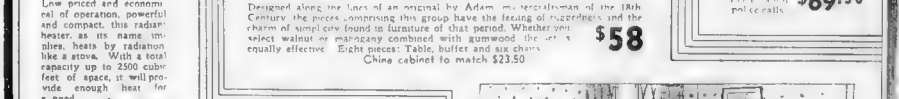

Reflecting as it does the beauty of correct design and the consummate quality of Osgood furniture, this two-piece group should appeal to those who would have a well-dressed home. Its in-built web construction and moss filling are a guarantee of the comfort one rightfully expects. Choice of desirable tapestry covers $89

Designed along the lines of an original by Adam, this recreation of the 18th Century piece, comprising this group, have the beauty of masterpieces and the charm of simplicity found in furniture of that period. Whether you select walnut or mahogany combined with gumwood, the set is equally effective. Eight pieces: Table, six chairs, sideboard, and two stools. China cabinet to match $235.00

Representing a most advanced design in bedroom furniture, this group, comprising a bed, dresser, and chest of drawers, is a masterpiece of design and construction. The bed is a masterpiece of design and construction. The dresser and chest of drawers are a masterpiece of design and construction. The price is very reasonable. $16.50

Low priced and economical of operation, powerful and compact, this radiator heater, as its name implies, heats by radiation like a stove. With a total capacity up to 2500 cubic feet of space, it will provide enough heat for a good sized room $37.50

Built and designed according to Osgood specifications, this moderately priced, yet thoroughly efficient range oil burner has found a welcome in homes with small budgets. Once it is installed it transforms your present kitchen stove into a modern oil burner having the power of a perfect coal fire with the flexibility of a clean gas flame $14.50

Though moderately priced, this group displays not only the unfading uniformity of Osgood quality in construction, but the kind of designing that gives one's bedroom new dignity and character. The suite is constructed of walnut and gumwood, the finish of which emphasizes the natural beauty of the graining. Three pieces: Dresser, bed and chest. Vanity to match $25.00 $78

'INNES ERROR' Gratifies Parkman

Declaring that a storm of protests had reached him as a result of the endorsement of Nichols by the Republican City Committee, Senator Henry Packman had huge audiences at rallies in West Roxbury, Dorchester and Roslindale that the "Innes blunder" has insured the election of Packman.

"If proof were needed that Mr. Nichols' neck is fastened just as firmly as ever to Mr. Innes' collar, it is fully demonstrated when the Innes-controlled Republican City Committee endorsed his candidacy in what the first Mr. Roosevelt would have called 'wreath words.'"

"As a matter of fact it was a bad blunder and put the final seal on Nichols' political death."

MOE TO DUST JENKINS, NASH FROM MALDEN HIGH SPORTS

BUSHELL LEADS MOVE AGAINST SCHOOL HEAD

By BILL CONNELL

A remedy is brewing in Malden high school sports, with Headmaster Thompson Jenkins and Fred J. Nash, former director of sports, facing possible loss of control of the high school.

A motion was introduced at this week's school committee meeting by Edward J. Busshell, member of the committee, to the effect that the board should take back control of school sports from Jenkins and Nash.

No action was taken on the motion, but Busshell said today that he probably would introduce the motion again at the next committee meeting which is held for the first Tuesday in December.

"Control of sports at Malden has been in the hands of Headmaster Jenkins and Mr. Nash for some years," said Busshell today. "I understand that, in the opinion of the board, Malden have been in control of the school sports since the direction in taken control from the hands of two men and that it is in the school committee's interest to take back control of school sports from these two men."

"Mr. Jenkins has been charged with sports some years ago when a new committee was organized. Conditions have changed since then and the school committee should have charge of this important school function."

JENKINS ANSWERS

Headmaster Jenkins today said that he had accepted the duties of the school committee when they assigned him to the school committee and that he had done his best to do for the benefit of the school.

Of course, I am required to give up control of athletics of the school committee," said Busshell today. "And I am ready to do whatever the committee deems necessary."

However, I believe that athletics are an important part of the school curriculum and that the school committee should have control of them. In recent years I believe the control of athletics in Malden has been first place. We have paid our bills and money has been saved, with the surplus each year going to the field corporation to pay off its indebtedness on the field and provide for improvements."

IN DEBT FOR FIELD

Profits from football, after expenses for equipment and officials and incidentals have been paid, have gone each year in the field corporation. It was learned today that the field was paid for, and about ten years ago a new field was built. A $1000 was contributed by the field corporation to the cost of the field. A new field was built at a cost of $1500.

The field was built on a part of the old field, and the new field was built on a part of the old field. The new field was built on a part of the old field, and the new field was built on a part of the old field.

BAYUK "PHILLIES"

pleased the taste of more men than any other brand in America at 10¢

men than any other cigar in America at any price

Never has one cigar so completely met the taste demands of experienced smokers as Bayuk "Phillies". Sales records prove it.

At 10¢—it outsold every other 10¢ brand. At 5¢—it is outselling every other cigar at any price.

Men who gladly paid 10¢ for Bayuk "Phillies" say it is an even better cigar today at 5¢. Other men tell us that they like it better than any cigar they've ever smoked—irrespective of price.

One thing is certain. Bayuk "Phillies" is NOT a 5¢ cigar. It's a proven 10¢ cigar value now selling for 5¢. Bayuk guarantees it.

We can't promise that Bayuk "Phillies" will please your taste. But we can tell you that many men who could well afford to spend double or triple the price are now smoking Bayuk "Phillies". Your own dealer will confirm this.

Bayuk's Guarantee

In 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (Familiarly known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America.

Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine Imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine ripe Havana and Domestic long-filler. It's the same identical cigar.

Shall a Minority Mayor Rule the City of Boston?

THE people of Boston should elect District-Attorney William J. Foley as their Mayor on Tuesday.

Mr. Foley best represents the hopes, aspirations and sentiments of the majority of Boston citizens.

He is the one Democrat who can be elected.

If he goes down through political conniving and resultant defeat of the people's wishes, the Mayor of Boston for the next four years will be a Republican who represents the minority party in this city and who is far from being the unanimous choice of his own party.

Stripped of all the non-essentials that have been spilled into the radio and the street-corner rally in this campaign, the situation resolves itself into this:

Can the minority faction put their man into City Hall the next four years, and rule the expenditure of $320,000,000, by dividing the Democratic majority of citizens?

This is the obvious choice which has been evident from the outset and which must not be lost sight of by the people of Boston.

THE Republican Legislature hatched this scheme by abolishing the system of responsible party government in Boston and establishing in its place the irresponsible, free-for-all, catch-as-catch-can system of "non-partisan" elections. The purpose of this scheme was to divide the Democrats in the hope that their minority candidate might sneak into City Hall while the Democrats debated among themselves. The label of non-partisanship is farcical, and fools nobody.

The people of Boston have been victimized in the past by this scheme. They should not be victimized again by the plots of crafty politicians.

Boston is one of the finest cities in the world. It has weathered the storm of depression nobly. Its credit is firm. It has cared for its poor and needy. It has provided an abundant program of public works for relief of unemployment.

There is no city in the world which has responded more fully to the dire needs of the dire times.

These achievements have been accomplished by a Democratic Mayor who is not responsible to any association or to any cloistered circle of tax-droppers but who is and has been responsible to the great rank-and-file of the worthy people of this city.

The people of Boston are entitled to a continuation of these humane policies which have alleviated suffering while developing the city and maintaining its credit.

They are entitled to a majority Mayor, whose heart is right, whose instincts are liberal, who is not a wage-slasher, who will not be any catspaw for the pillagers and plunderers and who will not be manipulated by any little coterie in the Back Bay or in State Street.

THE tests of public sentiment that have been conducted have shown that District-Attorney William J. Foley is the one man most favored by the majority party sentiment and the one that the rank-and-file of good citizens should concentrate upon unless the election is to be stolen from them by the old scheme of "divide and conquer."

If William J. Foley were not a good and honest and capable man there could be some dispute.

If he was not typical of the majority sentiment of the people of Boston there could be some doubt.

But the facts are that William J. Foley is a Boston boy, born and reared here, who has lived his life among us, who has served in the Legislature, the Governor's Council and as District-Attorney of the greatest county in New England and who is known by everybody to possess a record that is unblemished in integrity.

Elect William J. Foley as Mayor and prove that you are not to be deceived by the scheme of the crafty politicians to divide and conquer the city of Boston.

American School System Facing a Crisis

By James T. Williams, Jr.

For the last 15 years the American people have united in celebrating the week which includes Armistice Day as American Education Week.

This national observance is the response to a popular demand that one week be set aside each year in which all the people may consider how the schools, purposes and achievements of the universal education.

During this year's observance of Education Week, which starts next Monday, the effort will be made by the fathers and the mothers, the teachers and their pupils, throughout the United States to inform and quicken public sentiment concerning the emergency in education which the economic crisis has created in every state of the union.

Parents, teachers, and pupils best know how heavily "the weight of retrogression" has fallen in thousands of communities upon expenditures for education. And the parents and the teachers best know what a menace to the future of America lies in this kind of "penury wise" school situation.

Here are some significant facts with which thoughtful citizens should familiarize themselves in preparation for the intelligent observance of American Education Week.

Each year 200,000 more children enroll in the public schools than the year before—an increase of about 1 per cent per year.

High school enrollment is increasing at the rate of 15 per cent per year.

There are 5,000,000 boys and girls attending high school in 1931, where there were only 2,700,000 in 1925.

There were 87,000 public school teachers in this country during this year to 82,018. This means that in 1930, when enrollments were smaller by many thousands of pupils, they were served by as many teachers as are now. Each teacher, a much larger number of pupils.

In 1928 the cost of the public schools per pupil enrolled was $31.90 for the whole country. This cost has been raised this year to $74.36.

In 1928 the American people expended for new school buildings more than $400,000,000. In the school year 1931-32, they have spent less than $100,000,000 for new school buildings.

Approximately 200,000 children have been reduced to part-time schooling because of the shortage of school rooms. And 150,000 children during the year have been going to school in temporary or portable schools.

In 1932 the nation's total bill for education was less than the amount spent in 1928.

In nearly all the rural schools and in from 80 to 90 per cent of all city school systems, teachers' salaries during the last 12 months have been drastically reduced.

In 100 cities of the country the school term has been shortened by 20 days or more in 1931, and in 4500 rural schools by 20 or more days.

THE FACTS

In 170 cities kindergartens have been eliminated or curtailed. Art instruction has either been removed or cut from the school course in 100 cities, and in more than 100 cities music, health education, the teaching of home economics or the manual arts have suffered by retrogression.

These facts have been compiled and given national distribution by the three major organizations that will sponsor this year's observance of American Education Week—the National Education Association, the American Legion and the United States Office of Education.

This is not the first economic depression from which this country has suffered, but it is the first one in which the population of pupils have been allowed to make drastic reductions in public expenditures for education.

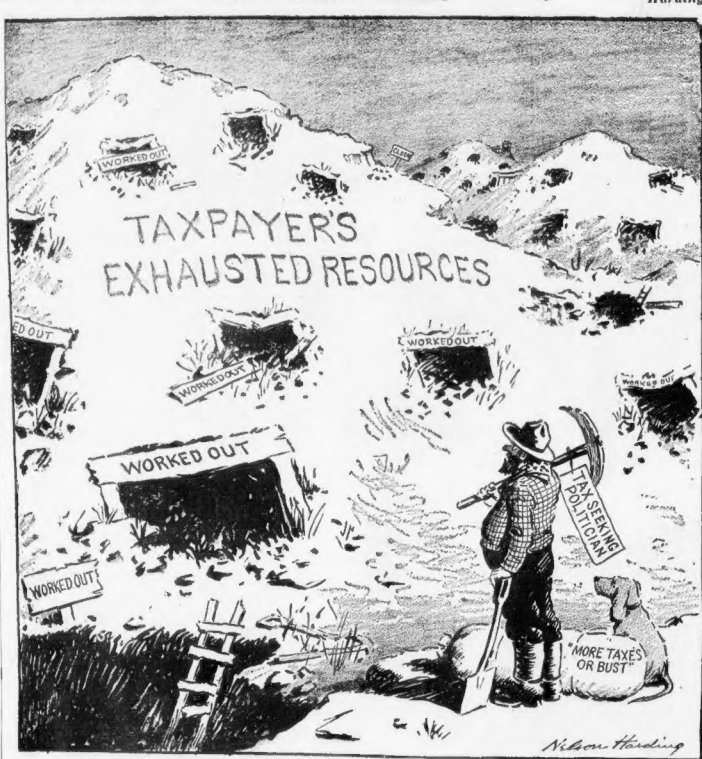

Every American citizen, and especially every father and mother, who is willing to help in halting this trend of blind and greedy politicians, upon the schools of his country, should welcome the opportunity to participate in the coming observance of American Education Week.

In nearly 3000 American schools, almost 80,000 teachers are idle, and hundreds of thousands of Americans of school age are denied the chance to attend a good school.

It is the duty of every citizen to take time in quickening the conscience of the American people concerning the emergency in American education.

No Gold in Them Thar Hills

By Nelson Harding

This digger never gets enough. And always seeks for more. But now he'll find the going rough in hills all mined before.

Exhausted are the golden veins. That honeycombed that hill. He'll have his trouble for his pains, Yet dig again he will!

Englishman Predicts Wonders More Startling Than Mother Shipton—Ching Ling Cries Out

By Edwin C. Hill

Copyright, 1931, King Features Synd., Inc. Some two hundred years ago an Englishwoman, Mother Shipton, made an almost incredible prophecy. She predicted that man would fly like a bird, walk on the hot sands fluently and talk of great distances. She foretold most of our great inventions. And they laughed at her for a crazy old

Today a young Englishman in our midst predicts wonders even more startling. He says that by the end of this century electricity, sugar and starch will be as cheap as sawdust, that the oceans will be purple with fish and the deserts a mass of vegetation.

3000 YEARS OF LIFE

He predicts that disease will be abolished a little later, and that generations will just disintegrate together. In the year five million man will be perfect and his span of life will be 3000 years. Another five million years beyond that and man will disintegrate and the people of the earth will all move to the planet Venus, shooting there in projectiles and rockets.

No body laughs out loud at this prophet, because he happens to be a great scientist. He is J. R. Haldane, professor of biochemistry at Cambridge University and one of the admittedly great intellects of science: a facile, gifted writer and a human test tube.

For Dr. Haldane does not share the common view of such things as take poisons and locks himself in gas-filled rooms to find the effects on the human system.

Withal, he is neither preacher nor lawyer, but he has a plan. "I don't think I know enough to do that," he says. "I think the scientific man's business to tell his followers what they should think."

I don't know that I would care to explain my earthly existence in five million years, or even five thousand, but I would certainly wish to be around, say, a hundred years from now, or even fifty, to see what amazing changes there have come over this stiff inert earth.

When the chemists of today can extract dynamite from sawdust, also perfume, color and medicines from a lump of coal, who dare predict what their inspired genius will produce over fifty years from now?

The voice of Ching Ling cries out in China against Marshal Kai-Chak and his Nanjing government. She charges that medicine men, darkly feudal minds, are destroying the fruits of the rebellion and liberating China from the Manchus.

CHING LING SPOKE

Almost a sacred personality in China is Ching Ling, better known to us as Madame Sun Yat Sen. Before her marriage she was Ching Ling, daughter of a Chinese physician, Methodist Y. M. C. A. Kingdom, and herself a graduate of the Western College at Mason, Ga.

Ching Ling fled to Moscow and never allowed herself to be reconciled to General Kai Shih or the Nanjing Government, despite threats and cajoleries. She is by no means a Communist or a Red, especially of the Russian variety. But she sympathizes with some of the milder doctrines of the latter.

From the imaginative poetry of Beattie we get the most beautiful description of the moon goddess: "And from embattled clouds emerging slow, Cynthia came riding on her silver car."

In any event, Cynthia Coolidge comes of fine New England stock, both sides of the family, and we hope she may grow in health and strength to assume the fine heritage she inherits.

They Call Her Cynthia

The baby girl born to Mr. and Mrs. John Coolidge is called Cynthia, and the casual propagandists tell us it is a family name.

Maybe, but the name of Cynthia is somewhat older in both history and mythology. Cynthia was the surname of Artemis or Diana, the goddess of the moon. The Roman Diana was called Cynthia from Mount Cynthus, where she was born.

From the imaginative poetry of Beattie we get the most beautiful description of the moon goddess: "And from embattled clouds emerging slow, Cynthia came riding on her silver car."

When I was covering crimes for my paper long ago I used to see the bad boys stand all-shackled in a row. And all the time I wondered why such sorrows had to be. And why the mothers had to weep such tears incessantly.

I used to ask the officers to tell me if they could. Why doing wrong appealed to some instead of doing good; But they were used to criminals and watching mothers cry. And deeper than that the sin itself they'd little time to pry.

All history tells of prison cells and dungeons dark and deep And men being led away to them the while the women weep; Nor all we've learned, nor all we've seen in countless years of time Bag taught us how to cure the cause and stop the source of crime.

'Twas forty years ago or more I saw them gathered in, Poor foolish victims of a game they had no chance to win. And still the prison shuts them in from earth and sea and sky. And still the mothers weep for them, and still I wonder why.
